

The Intelligencer.

Office Nos. 25 and 27 Fourteenth Street.

Persons leaving the city for the season, and summer residents, can have the DAILY INTELLIGENCER mailed to them, postpaid, for $5 cents per month, the advance being charged as often as desired.

The White Cross movement is on a practical line. It lays hold where there is an abundance of raw material, and when the effort is persistent good results are accomplished. Wheeling is in great need of just such a work. The little money needed ought to be raised without much effort.

The seating capacity of the big Reunion tent is 20,000, and it isn't going to hold the people. There will be such a crowd as Wheeling never saw. The people who come will leave a good deal of money with them, and that won't be bad to take, either. What a windfall the Reunion would be to a Western town! And with our abundance of natural gas, what sight the visitors will see!

We beg to assure the South Branch Intelligencer that in our comments on the address of Captain Pennybacker at Romney, there was no intention to question the accuracy of the report. We were, in fact, much pleased with the report. It was the sentiment of the oration to which we took the liberty to object as being harmful and not in line with the present aspirations of the progressive South. It was there we thought we detected an overflow of floundering.

A friend at Weston is pleased to commend the "fairness with which the INTELLIGENCER gives the prohibition news." The INTELLIGENCER endeavors to give the news without partiality. The same writer thinks the Republican party as such ought not to be identified with the prohibition movement. This is the INTELLIGENCER's view. There are Republicans who desire a prohibition plank in the next State platform, and though the INTELLIGENCER does not agree with them, it has opened, and keeps open, its columns to them as well as to the other side.

The idea of "an old-fashioned Fourth" is taking hold and spreading this year. Big cities and little towns are catching the thought and preparing to put it in full force. A Pittsburgh boy, who has been saving up for a little celebration of his own, sends his dollar to the public fund in his city, with the explanation that, he wants "to see what the Fourth of July means." Other persons than he have an indefinite idea of the meaning of the Fourth of July. Thousands of voters never read the Declaration of Independence and never heard it read. The reading of the Declaration is of the essence of an "old-fashioned Fourth."

Ir "Inquirer" will refer to the President's letter to the Secretary of War revoking the order about the flags, he will see that the INTELLIGENCER has in no way misrepresented Mr. Cleveland. The thing itself almost surpasses belief, but there it stands in black and white, and the name of Grover Cleveland is signed to it.

He spoke of returning "to the loyal States the Union flags captured during the war." "And to the Confederate States the flags captured by the Union forces." If this sort of thing has an ugly look at this day, the fault is with the President, not with the newspaper which comments on it. Where the President was going to look for that power, and with whom he expected to treat as being authorized to represent it, are questions which he might prefer to answer for himself.

This much may be said as a matter of history: Mr. Cleveland is the first President of the United States to recognize the Confederate States of America.

We desire to submit some considerations to our neighbor, the Register. Suppose that somebody in Washington did make an informal tender of the President's presence at the coming Reunion of the Society of the Army of West Virginia; and suppose that one or more members of the invitation committee did say with equal informality, "No, thank you," would this be sufficient provocation for calling on the Mayor to "take the proper step to have this matter set right?" And if the Mayor, why not the Police Department, want the Fire Department? What has the Mayor to do with it more than any other citizen of Wheeling?

It is quite true, as our neighbor has it, that the Reunion is not to be a partisan affair. It has not been so elsewhere, and we think the Register and the Mayor could not make it so here, even though the Mayor were disposed to lend a hand, as we are sure he is not. With his knowledge of the world and the way such things are done in it, the Mayor would at once see the impropriety of doing anything to detract from the pleasure of the man whom the people have invited to be their guests.

If the Mayor were giving a dinner party, let us say, he would look well to the harmonious mixing of his guests; for as a hospitable host he would be slow to make uncomfortable anyone who might sit at his board. Recent occurrences have raised an insuperable barrier between the President and the great body of men who served in the Union ranks. It would hardly be comfortable for them to be brought together at the Reunion. There would be a certain stiffness that might be awkward.

Suppose, then, that since we have invited the veterans to hold their meeting here, we leave it to them to say whom they would like to have for company. If they ask the President, and he comes, of course we shall all treat him with the respect due to the Chief Magistrate of the Nation.

Boycotting the Chicago and Alton. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—Vernon C. Ward, of Columbus, Ohio, has filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission a formal complaint charging the Chicago and Alton road with refusal to sell tickets in accordance with published schedules, a ticket to Bloomington, Ill., via the Chicago and Alton road from Chicago. He says the agent gave as a reason for his refusal that his company is boycotting the Chicago and Alton line.

THE WORLD OF LABOR.

MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION.

Appoint a Conference Committee to Meet at Like One of the Amalgamated Association to Confer on the Wage Question—A Disagreement Probable.

PITTSBURGH, June 20.—The committee of the Manufacturers' Association appointed to confer with the committee from the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers held a preparatory meeting this morning at their rooms in the Rembau building.

The conference committee, as finally completed, is as follows: A. F. Keating, B. F. Jones, C. L. Fitch, A. E. W. Painter, George F. McClellan, James W. Bailey, James K. Verner, Samuel T. Owen, James H. Lindsay, J. H. Oliver, George Chalmers, John Moore, W. C. Cressman and W. G. Crommeyer, of the Pittsburgh district; H. O. Bennett and James Nelson, from the Mahoning Valley; J. Boyer and Charles J. Troutner, from Chicago; W. T. Tallman and N. E. Whitaker, from Wheeling.

The members of the committee were rather chary about making public what they proposed to take on the wage question. Mr. B. F. Jones was of this mind, but said that he was a siding place at the table which he held in his hand: "It is perfectly absurd for the Amalgamated Association to ask for this scale."

The committee got down to work at 11 o'clock this morning and adjourned at 11 o'clock this afternoon. They reviewed the different parts of the scale and decided on a definite line of policy. It was learned after the adjournment of the committee that they had decided to take a firm stand not to accept the ten per cent advance in wages, not even to the piddlers. With this understanding the committee will meet the Conference Committee of the Amalgamated Association at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Amalgamated Convention Adjourns. PITTSBURGH, June 20.—At the adjournment of the Amalgamated Association the Committee on Organization recommended that the clause reading, "Working by the ton" be so arranged that men working by the day may also become members of the Association. This will take in nearly every day laborer employed by the Association. The proposition in reference to prohibiting members of the Knights of Labor from joining the Association was also taken up, and after a long discussion, it was decided that the joint board of arbitration and conciliation will meet at Indianapolis.

A recommendation that the mills be shut down for two weeks during the summer failed to pass. With these exceptions, the report after a lengthy discussion was adopted. The convention then adjourned.

Freight Rates Too High.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 20.—The Pittsburgh Railroad Club Association on account of high freight rates and the cutting indulged in by operators are shipping but little coal. The classification over the Pennsylvania and Ohio Railroad, and the joint board of arbitration and conciliation will meet at Indianapolis.

Shoe Workers Strike Ended. WORCESTER, Mass., June 20.—At a mass meeting of the locked out boot makers to-day it was decided that all but the last and bottomers should return to work on the best terms possible. This practical arrangement, which has been in progress five months.

The Suicide at Niagara.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Frank Trigg, who committed suicide at Niagara Falls yesterday afternoon, was very well known in Washington, where for a number of years he had been the passenger agent of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad. He lived with his wife and two children, aged nine and fourteen years, at 415 Sixth Street, Northwest.

Mr. Trigg was a good business man and well thought of. He was traveling on business for the railroad, and was on his way to Niagara Falls to see to it that his own life by leaping into the torrent. His relations with his family are said to have been of the most pleasant nature, and no one knew of his suicidal tendencies. The fact that he was a passenger agent of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, and that at Niagara Falls he was to see to it that his own life by leaping into the torrent. His relations with his family are said to have been of the most pleasant nature, and no one knew of his suicidal tendencies.

The Sharp Trial. NEW YORK, June 20.—In the Sharp trial to-day the session was occupied with the examination of officers of the Broadway road and others in an effort to find out through the testimony of the officers of the Broadway road, but without much success, and the examination of cashiers of banks, which resulted in bringing out the fact that they had collectively cashed for Foshay, one of Sharp's partners, a large number of checks for a total of $700,000, and that at Foshay's request they gave him the largest bills they had. The object was to show that there were probably the large bills used in bribing the bookkeepers.

Another Move in the Cookery Dispute. CUMBERLAND, Md., June 20.—The Cumberland and Piedmont Railroad Company, which recently organized under its new charter, has obtained a warrant of condemnation of the interests of Charles F. Mayer and the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad in the Cookery property. The property, which is situated in the Piedmont and Cumberland Railroad has been deposited for some time past. The company now wants to condemn has taken the place of the Piedmont and Cumberland, and has power to make a new condemnation under the old law. The warrant is returnable June 23. It is expected that the decision of the Court of Appeals in the cases will have been rendered by this time.

An Old Time Fourth.

PITTSBURGH, June 20.—Major Samuel Harper, Department Commander of the Pennsylvania G. A. R. has issued an order requesting the corps throughout the department to celebrate the coming Fourth of July in an old time manner, the ceremonies to include the running up of the stars and stripes, firing off a national salute, and the passing of the Declaration of Independence. A movement has been started in this city to have an old-fashioned celebration and a popular subscription is being raised to defray expenses.

Religious at Natrona, Pa.

PITTSBURGH, June 20.—A special from Natrona, Pa., says: "The work of evicting the strikers of the Pennsylvania salt works from the company's houses was begun to-day by Deputy Sheriff Carson and three assistants. The furniture of two families was carried out and set on the street. No more evictions were attempted. The strikers are inclined to be quiet, and so far have offered no resistance."

PLUMED KNIGHT IN LONDON.

Queer Notions of the Ignorant Regarding Mr. Blaine.

New York, June 20.—The Sm's London correspondent sends the following gossip about Mr. Blaine's stay in London:

James G. Blaine is living here at the Hotel Metropole, and he was much gazed upon and discussed in the corridors yesterday. The most common remarks were that he looked exactly like his picture; that he had a very strange eye; that he looked like a big man, and that he was looking very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and he appeared very weak. He assured me that his health was good. On his arrival Mr. Blaine was greeted by Senator Hale and one or two other friends. An admirer of his informed the hotel keeper that a very big man was coming, and that he ought to have an American flag. The gentleman volunteered to lend him a large one, and the principal porter looked very well. The result, perhaps, of his long journey. He looked delicate, pale, and